

AND UNKNOWN CONSCRIPTION FROM 1748 OF THE ROMANIAN POPULATION FROM THE SEAT OF GHEORGHENI

SUMMARY

The authors present an unpublished conscription of 1748 of the Romanians from the former seat of Gheorgheni which is now part of the district of Harghita. Unlike the conscriptions of 1750 and 1760—1762, where the Romanian inhabitants of the seat of Gheorgheni were indicated only numerically, this conscription also includes the names and Christian names of the Romanian population (heads of families, children, servants, widows and widowers) from the localities of the seat of Gheorgheni. Beside its historical and demographic importance, this fact has a marked onomastic importance. Through a many-sided analysis of the conscription, the authors arrive at precious conclusions on the antiquity and perennial existence of the Romanian element in the seat of Gheorgheni, these data contributing to the study of the reality of historical facts in our country.
